Find Defective Heating Units

A result of a recent death investigation in Grayling, Michigan, the Division of Occupational Health determined that a well-type gas-fired heater was defective, resulting in excessive carbon monoxide concentrations.

Subsequent investigations led to a news release by the U.S. Public Health Service and Sears Roebuck & Co. An effort is being made to locate similar models. They are identified as follows:

Sears Roebuck & Co. — Homart Model numbers 133.72561 or 133.725611, 133.72563 or 133.725621, 133.72565 or 133.725651, and 133.72566 or 133.725661. The plate showing model numbers is located on the top of the burning box.

If the Homart heater bears any of the above serial numbers it is potentially dangerous. The owner of such a heater should immediately call his local Sears store or catalog office and the unit will be replaced.

A similar unit with the trade name "Suburban" manufactured by Samuel Stamping & Enameling Co. of Chattanooga, Tenn., is also defective and has the following serial numbers:

BB-10-2N, BB-10-3N, BB-10-4N, BB-10-2 LP, BB-10-3 LP, BB-10-4 LP (10,000 BTU), BB-15-2N, BB-15-3N, BB-15-4N, BB-15-2 LP, BB-15-3 LP, BB-15-4 LP (15,000 BTU).

This company is no longer in business. A new company, Suburban Manufacturing Company of Dayton, Tenn., is manufacturing similar units having the identical serial numbers. These units are not defective.

Anyone owning a Suburban heater should remove the grill and check the manufacturer's plate, located on the burner section. If the name "Samuel Stamping and Enameling Co." appears with the above serial numbers, the unit should be removed and destroyed.

Kind of Discrimination

In a matter of months, we are faced with a presidential election. As in every election, efforts will be made to get out the vote. Millions of citizens will be deprived of the vote, because they do not meet state requirements. At present, these requirements are upward of 5 million, otherwise qualified, of their right to participate in the choice of Vice President. Every year, thousands of citizens are transferred by emigration from one part of the country to another. Through no fault of their own, they are franchised when election time rolls. They have not had time to live long in their new homes to become voting citizens. It is now in Congress establishing Septemidencency as a uniform eligibility standard in. As The New York Times observes, it is a passage to erase some of the present discrimination against citizens on the move.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Community Worker:
The letter has been sent to the churches of the county. However, in case you didn't hear of it from these sources and you find yourself interested in this type of service organization, please feel free to attend the meeting herein explained.
Due to the difficulty experienced by local community organizations in trying to fill the needs of the less fortunate at Christmas time, you and/or your representative are requested to attend an organizational meeting March 8th, 1968 at 1:00 p.m. at the Grayling Woman's Club House.
At this time we will endeavor to coordinate the churches' and clubs' efforts under one community service committee. The possibilities of such an organization are innumerable. However, a few are immediately apparent as: it will eliminate overlapping of gifts and services by church and community to some in need while others are overlooked; it will enable us to set up a service fund through the bank that all the community can contribute to with the assurance of its purpose and use; it will give purchasing power for items necessary for the families involved and, most important, create a spirit of unity not possible by the separate organizations as they now function.
As we grow many more services may be offered as the need arises, such as for fire victims, revolving loan funds for immediate aid while insurance is processed, and on and on as far as imagination and human needs carry us.
John A. Aelf of the Grayling State Bank will explain the way the financing will operate as well as the possible sources of funds. Your interest and attendance are most urgently requested.
Sincerely,
Patricia A. Fowler

Dear Lew:
What a wonderful time we all had! Jerry Archer had told me about the splendid cooperation that he has had with you in the past years. I believed him but was gratified to find it out for myself. The pre-planning that is staff there at Bear Mountain. They did everything they possibly could for our benefit. You and your wife are wonderful hosts. We can't wait to see you. We have set for February 24th and 25th, 1968 to be the date for our 6th Annual Ski Trip. We are beginning to lay the ground work already for it, so please put this on your calendar, that you will once again host the Battle Creek Explorer - Cood group.

WHEREAS, on October 16, 1967, the Law Enforcement Committee of the Ingham County Board of Supervisors reported to their Board the procedures for handling automobiles abandoned by the owners on either public or private property, still unresolved is the question of proper enactment and enforcement of local ordinances and regulations in order to prevent the unsightly and unsanitary accumulation of "junk" automobiles, trailers, industrial equipment and the like, upon private property with the consent of the owner of said property; and

WHEREAS, this Committee has reviewed the power and authority of their Board of Supervisors to pass an ordinance to regulate said "junk" cars, and is of the opinion, after consultation with the Prosecuting Attorney, that the ordinance power provided by law for boards of supervisors under the terms of Section 11 of Act No. 156 of the Public Acts of 1967, as amended, MSA 5.331, is totally inadequate to allow local boards of supervisors to deal with this problem, as well as many other problems of concern to county government, due to its requirement that any ordinance passed by a county must relate to purely county affairs; and that it shall not interfere with the local affairs of any township, incorporated city or village within the limits of such county;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that Crawford County Board of Supervisors, urges the Governor and the Legislature to:

1. Amend Section 11 of Act No. 156 of the Public Acts of 1967, as amended (MSA 5.331), to provide greater authority for counties to deal with problems of County-wide concern; and

2. Provide for a state law regarding and controlling the storage and disposal of "junk" automobiles upon private property in an effective and legal fashion; and/or

3. Provide by state law legislation which would enable counties, or other local units of government, to control the storage and disposal of "junk" automobiles.

A law which would authorize the county to condemn public or private property for the purpose of clearing the same of junk automobiles.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the State Representative Nelson-Tisdale and State Senator John Tapp.

Moved by Schaeffer and supported by DeWitt that the above resolution be adopted. Roll call. All yeas. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION NO. 3
WHEREAS, our attention has been called to Senate Bill 244 introduced February 23, 1967 relative to the Certification of the Supervisor and Assessor by the State Tax Commission;

WHEREAS, such a bill would take the authority of electing or appointing the Supervisor and Assessor from the people of the local government and place this authority in the hands of the State Tax Commission or some other appointed authority; and

WHEREAS, the Crawford County Board of Supervisors believe that the people of local government have the ability to elect or appoint their Supervisor or Assessor and also are intelligent enough to know whether or not the people they elect or appoint are capable of performing the duties of the office to which they are elected or appointed;

WHEREAS, the ad valorem tax is the only tax left in the hands of local government we feel the qualification of the Supervisor and Assessor should be left to the discretion of the electors or electors of local government;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Crawford County Board of Supervisors go on record as opposing any State law which requires that the Supervisor or Assessor be certified by the State or any Commission outside of the unit of government which the Supervisor or Assessor shall serve.

Feeding a preschooler needn't be a battle of wills and wits. Work with, not against, the principles of child growth and development. According to these principles, expect your child to reveal his individuality in his eating habits as well as in his play and learning. Although he follows the same general growth and development patterns as other children, he will acquire eating skills earlier or later, consume larger or smaller amounts of food, or like foods another youngster rejects. As preschoolers become increasingly independent, they will want to pour their milk or butter their bread. Let them and be tolerant of their awkwardness. Expect the preferences and appetites of children, like those of adults, to vary daily. Some days your child eats more than other days. Occasionally he may reject foods that are definite favorites. Your child's attempt to learn by doing may cause spills, messes, and exasperation. Remember daily practice helps him master more acceptable ways of eating. Children need less nutrients than adults and more than infants. To insure an adequate supply of these nutrients — carbohydrates, fats, protein, vitamins and minerals — include the basic four: milk, meat, fruit and vegetables; and cereals, in daily menus, the specialist concludes. The development of a child sets the pace for the amount of food he needs. His size, age, rate of growth, and activity dictate the amounts of the various nutrients necessary.

Michigan Driver of The Year Named

Jesse N. Montgomery, 41-year old truck driver whose employer claims he gets better as traffic gets worse, was named Michigan Driver of the Year during the Michigan Trucking Association's banquet in Lansing on February 21.

Jesse, or Monty, as he is known at Chrysler Corporation's inter plant transportation terminal, has been driving trucks 22½ years, the last 19 with Chrysler. In 1,550,000 miles of city driving, he has never been involved in an accident. Montgomery also must maneuver his tractor-trailer combination in the congested areas of manufacturing plants.

Last June, he helped direct traffic around the scene of a three-car accident on I-75, and also made the injured as comfortable as possible.

The father of three children, ages 11, 14 and 18, Montgomery applauds some recent efforts of Federal and State government to improve highway safety.

"But I think there is too much emphasis placed on the car and not enough on driver education and the person driving the automobile," he adds.

World Day
 This moving phrase was chosen as the theme of World Day of Prayer.
 During the 80 years since its beginning, the World Day of Prayer has had as its main purpose prayer and giving for the world wide mission of the church. Men and women join together across denominational, racial, national and cultural boundaries to pray for the needs of the world and to make an offering for the Churches' mission around the globe.
 The very first service opens at dawn in the tropical South Sea island of Tonga near the International Dateline. Hour by hour, petition succeeds petition forming a global prayer chain as the sun appears in the other lands, until it finally sinks at the end of the day behind an ice-bound island in the far northern Bering Sea.
 Offerings on this World Day of Prayer will go to many worthy projects in America and in other lands. Included will be scholarships for training women for Christian broadcasting in Africa; support for 13 colleges in Cameroon, India, Pakistan, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Guatemala.
 The International Student Service also will be aided, as will the Indian - Americans, rural pastors, vacation church schools, and other Christian programs under the general direction of the National Council of Churches of which Church Women United is a part.
 World Day of Prayer observances in hundreds of communities are planned by the 2,300 units of Church Women United across the United States.
 Frances M. Aumiller, chairman.

Marie with platoons in Cheboygan, Alpena, and Gladstone.
 Army Guard units of the 1463rd Transportation Company from Grand Ledge and Ionia will join the main contingent at Camp Grayling beginning July 20. They will train until August 3.
 On July 27, batteries of the 157th and 32nd Artilleries from Detroit roll into Camp Grayling for training until August 10. They will be joined by units of the 48th Brigade which includes Brigade Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Company G, Forward Support, 738th Maintenance Battalion, 2nd Platoon, 38th MP Company, 38th Supply and Transportation Battalion and 38th Administration Company, from Wyoming; and the 1st Battalion, 246th Armor with units in Dowagiac, South Haven, Three Rivers St Joseph, Manistee and Cadillac.
 The Brigade also includes the 3rd Battalion 126th Infantry with units in Flint, Alma, Saginaw, and Port Huron Company A (Air Mobile, Light, 38th Aviation Battalion) from Grand Ledge, Troop C, 1st Squadron, 228th Cavalry from Detroit, and the 1st Battalion, 125th Infantry with units in Flint, Alma, Saginaw and Port Huron.
 Among the Army Guard units holding their APT in other parts of the state are batteries of the 1st Battalion "NIKE" (HERC), 77th Artillery located in Detroit, 1st Infantry, and Caledon, and the Michigan Military Academy. The Artillerymen will train at their home stations while the Infantry will assemble for two weeks at Fort Custer, June 1-29.
 The staggering of camp dates for the various Army Guard units will allow for a sizeable number of units to remain at their home stations for possible state emergency duty.
 Most Michigan Air Guard units will hold their Annual Field Training out state in 1968. The 191st Tactical Reconnaissance Group from Detroit will journey to Travis Air Force Base, Savannah, Georgia, for a two week stint March 2-16. Detroit's 127th Tactical Reconnaissance Group will train at Gulfport, Mississippi, April 27-May 11, and Battle Creek's 110th Tactical Reconnaissance Group will carry out APT at Otis Air Force Base in Massachusetts, August 3-17.

World Day
 This moving phrase was chosen as the theme of World Day of Prayer.
 During the 80 years since its beginning, the World Day of Prayer has had as its main purpose prayer and giving for the world wide mission of the church. Men and women join together across denominational, racial, national and cultural boundaries to pray for the needs of the world and to make an offering for the Churches' mission around the globe.
 The very first service opens at dawn in the tropical South Sea island of Tonga near the International Dateline. Hour by hour, petition succeeds petition forming a global prayer chain as the sun appears in the other lands, until it finally sinks at the end of the day behind an ice-bound island in the far northern Bering Sea.
 Offerings on this World Day of Prayer will go to many worthy projects in America and in other lands. Included will be scholarships for training women for Christian broadcasting in Africa; support for 13 colleges in Cameroon, India, Pakistan, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Guatemala.
 The International Student Service also will be aided, as will the Indian - Americans, rural pastors, vacation church schools, and other Christian programs under the general direction of the National Council of Churches of which Church Women United is a part.
 World Day of Prayer observances in hundreds of communities are planned by the 2,300 units of Church Women United across the United States.
